

Part III The Solemn Adoration of the Holy Cross

At the unveiling of the cross, the priest sings the following three times, each time raising the pitch.

During the adoration the choir, divided into two choruses, I and II sings the following Improper and other hymns. The singing should continue until the adoration is completed. If it is completed before all the following can be sung, the doxology Sempiterna sit beatae Trinitati gloria etc., is always used as a conclusion. This is the last verse of the Pange Lingua see page 365b.
